PARCELS POST SOME TIME.

PARCELS POST—SOME TIME.
There will be general satisfaction in his power a satisfaction in knowing that time was some in the rush of closing up
line session of Parliament to put
line session of Parliament to put line session. The benefits to be derived by the public from such a system are fairly well known,
begreport, and there is, nowhere a disposition other than favorable
to its early establishment in Canada.

In point of fact the public are a good deal more anxious for the establishment of parcels post than the Government seem to be. Mr. Lemieux was understood to have plans for this extension of the postal service well advanced before he left the department. It is taken his successor almost the properties of the postal service well advanced to years have his successor almost the properties of the public properties of the public public properties of public opinion. islation would not have been introduced until another session but for pressure of public opinion. Only last week the Postunastra-General introduced until the public opinion. Only last week the Postunastra-General introduced by the public of the production of the protection of the public are probably due the fact that if wish brought down. Even so, the signed with the force of the protection of the public are probably due the fact that if the force of the protection of the public due to the force of the protection of the public due to the force of the protection of the public due to the force of the protection of the public due to the force of the protection of the public due to the force of the protection of the profession of the express companies. The delay in starting the parcels post system indicates that the Ministers are in no hurry to subject their expression of the protection of the protectio

FROM A FRIENDLY SOURCE.

In the election campaign of 1911 Mr. Arthur Hawkes, through the "British News of Canada," helped round up the "British born" residents of Canada to vote against reciprocily and in support of Mr. Borden. The Government have been in power nor nearly two years—long causalt for nearly two years—long causalt for policy. What Mr. Hawkes thinks of their fiscal ideas is pretty clearly indicated in an editorial in the issue of his paper of May 31st, from which the following paragraphs are taken:

"The Muster of Pinnane has been proaching a rather two-depth of the proaching a rather two-depth in patting of the first paragraphs are taken:

"COLD FEET."

That the Borden Government have no intention of allowing the have no intention of allowing the people a chance to express their opinions on the contribution was made clear on Friday. In response to repeated appeals from Sir Wilfrid Lourier and Mr. Pugelsey that the Government put the question to a vote, Mr. Bor-den amounced that the entitles intended to perform the mean of the three of the performance of the next session, while the Minister of Finance said the financial condinuced to Parliament at the next session, while the Minister of Finance said the financial condi-tions of the country were such that the Government would not concede the demand for an elec-tion.

Two points are made elect in these pronouncements.
